

METHODISTS GET THE BAPTISTS

IN INTERESTING GAME CLARENCE DON TAKES GOODNIGHT TO CLEANUP, 4 TO 2.

The Clarendon College defeated the Goodnight Baptist College yesterday afternoon in a very interesting and hard-fought game by the score of 4 to 2. The feature of the game was the excellent work by Messer, who worked on the mound for the Methodists. Fast fielding and hitting was put up by both sides but the defensive by Goodnight was too weak. Clarendon had them outclassed in every stage of the game.

RICH GIRL DOES NOT WANT A GUARDIAN

Special to The News.

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., April 6.—At a hearing in the superior court today Judge George H. Buck listened to further testimony in an effort to arrive at a solution of the problem as to whether Miss Frances Howard, a wealthy society girl and a descendant of the famous Howard family of Boston, is capable of looking after her own affairs. The court proceedings resulted from an application made by Miss Howard's mother to have a guardian appointed for her daughter. According to Mrs. Howard and other members of her family Miss Howard at times "seemed to act a little queer" and has entertained ideas that are regarded as rather unconventional for a young woman of her wealth and social station. At a previous hearing Kenneth Howard, a Yale student and brother of the defendant, declared that his sister had frequently expressed fixed ideas on motherhood. He said that Miss Howard had said that when a woman is in sound health she should bear children whether married or single. Miss Howard, in her own behalf, says she does not understand why the proceedings have been brought. She declares that her life has always been a happy and contented one, and that if her views on certain subjects are not in accord with those of the majority it does not follow that she is not perfectly capable of handling her own financial affairs.

TO REVISE THE NEW YOUR CONSTITUTION

Special to The News.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 6. Delegates to the Constitutional Convention, which will be entrusted with the important task of framing new Constitution for the state of New York, are gathering in Albany today. The convention will hold its first session tomorrow for the purpose of organization. Former Senator Elwin Root, according to the general understanding, will be named as presiding officer.

Tasks with the delegates already on the ground indicate that the work of overhauling the Constitution will be marked by some bitter contests. According to present signs one of the principal houses of contention will be the so-called short ballot reform, which aims to give the Governor power to appoint a number of the state officers who are now elected. Roger Bresnahan, new manager of the National and American leagues will enter this baseball season with four new managers, two in each league. Among those perhaps the most interesting is "Wild Bill" Donovan, new manager of the New York Americans.

"I'm going to rule with kind words, not hard knocks nor hard language," says "Wild Bill."

"Wild Bill" was one of the greatest pitchers of his time, and he has been credited with having some of the brain that made the Tigers of the White Sox in Chicago, his first experience in a minor league, and his work in the big league will be very carefully watched by Chicago critics.

Through platform declarations adopted last fall, when the delegates to the constitutional convention were elected both the republican and the democratic parties are committed to the short ballot reform. Nevertheless, a strong minority has sprung up under the leadership of State Senator Brackett of Saratoga which avows its intention to fight the proposed reform bill and nullify the chief argument of the opponents. The chief argument of the opponents of the short ballot are that it would endow the Governor with too much power and enable him through his appointments to build up a political machine which could give him a predominant influence in State politics.
